

Roseline Deleu

Feng Shui Steps

NEWSLETTER # 16 DEC 07

Inside this issue:

Latest Australian Feng Shui Conference

by Roseline Deleu

- 2007 and 2008 Australian Feng Shui Conference 1
- Forgiveness is the Key 2
- Wildlife Wisdom Cards 2
- Don't Underestimate its Power! 3
- Keen NEW Feng Shui Practitioners wanted 3
- Fiji, here we come 3
- Sold the House in NO Time 4
- Feng Shui Clothing 4
- Feel good with your Feng Shui Garden 5
- The first and only cartoon book on Feng Shui 6

For the first time this yearly event was held at the Gold Coast and I am happy to say that it was a great success... and I will host this again next year.

The variety of speakers and the quality of the participants made this day very enjoyable and really informative for everyone. Each speaker was present all day to allow the attendees to get answers to their personal questions.

Display of JAIN (NSW) who inspired us with his knowledge of sacred geometry and 'mathematics'.

JAIN has created an amazing teaching material to allow his students to visualise sacred geometry and mathematics on a totally different dimension.

Roseline Deleu is announcing the Lucky Door prizes as they are drawn during the day.

The audience was fully open to Lori

Mitchell's stimulating tips on Manifesting Abundance. We could 'scent' all the gorgeous mixtures of essential oils that Kaleena suggested us to use. Sprayed with intent in specific areas of our homes they will enhance Chi and help bring your dream come true.

At the end of Shanti Rahal's talk, when everyone had balanced their chakras and aura with chanting, humming and singing, we did a Feng Shui intended enhancement-projection. Each participant chose a personal object in their home that is displayed in their sector 4 (wealth). The whole attendance then projected the sound corresponding to this area and added their personal intentional abundant vibration to it. Each would reap the results within the next 9 days...

Yes, it is working!!! Of course! As soon as the same evening, I got the feed back from a lady who manifested in two hours the $500 that she wished.

Shanti Rahal had everyone singing.

'Conference' seems to be a very 'serious' word to explain what this day is about... it is about learning, having fun, meeting, understanding, exchanging and enjoying life.

Thank you again to Mina Hunt and Geraldine Magner for their valuable marketing skills and enthusiasm to help me promoting the conference. Thank you to all speakers, without you the conference would not be the same!

Roseline Deleu
Feng Shui master & Author

Roseline Deleu launching her latest creation: the only CARTOON GUIDE on Feng Shui on the worldwide market.

Australian Feng Shui Conference 2008 Sunday 12th October 2008—Gold Coast (Australia)

Do you want to be a guest speaker or can you recommend someone for our next year's event? This conference day is very popular and today, we only have two spots left for speakers! Be quick.

Are you wishing to put your business forward and sponsor the 2008 Australian Feng Shui Conference Day? The exposure on the day has a much bigger impact than any advertising in the press. Limited to 3 sponsors! For further info, contact roseline@fengshuisteps.com

Forgiveness is the Key

by Roseline Deleu

Someone asked me how Feng Shui could help her moving on in life after divorce...

Many of us go through challenges in lives in regards to relationships and before activating your LOVE sector (Area 2) it is essential to have processed the whys and hows the previous failed relationships.

Our busy lives often makes us live in 'our reality' = a virtual world , 'the Matrix' that we created based on our stress, fears and previous life experiences. It is essential to understand that the more we are stressed, the less we are aligned; the more we focus on fears, the more we attract them; the more we understand our patterns, the better we can correct them.

In addition to incorporate relaxation in your lives, releasing your fears and clearing your patterns, here are a few Feng Shui tips to keep you going:

1. Getting rid of what belonged to past failed relationship is essential (including jewelry and photos too)

2. Meditation is a good process to bring peace in your mind; at the same time, place a peaceful object in your sector 8.

3. Forgiving yourself of what you did, said, experienced in the failed relationship. Safely light a candle in your sector 3 for the next 9 evenings with the intent of forgiving your past, enhancing respect for yourself and your previous partner.

Blessings—Roseline Deleu

Australian Wildlife Wisdom Cards

Cards & Book REVIEW

Australian Wildlife Wisdom guides Readers to New Understanding of Animals and Themselves!

Australia is one of the most diverse animal habitats in the world. With hundreds of species that are specific to the region, Australia offers people breathtaking views at some of Mother Nature's most prized possessions.

For the first time two authors have taken the beauty of the Australian animal landscape and combined it with the spiritual messages these amazing creatures carry to offer a book that educates the reader on both the animals, and what spiritual messages the animals offer for leading better life on earth.

Australian Wildlife Wisdom by Trevor and Susan O'Sullivan hits bookshelves and the internet this week for sale. The book, penned by two spiritual leaders, offers a fascinating insight into what animals have to offer in the way of both their unique heritages, as well as what they can teach humans about life.

The book focuses on 45 animals that are mostly indigenous to the Australian landscape. Featured animals include the Fairy Penguin, Quoll, Emu, Magpie, and the Green Tree Frog to name a few.

Each animal in Australian Wildlife Wisdom is profiled to offer both historical information on the creature, as well as the animal's specific spiritual message to humans. Original artwork has been created for each creature featured in Australian Wildlife Wisdom. The book comes with 45 unique cards featuring the original artwork for readers to use as a guidance tool.

"I was blessed with the Divine intervention of creating this incredible book. It was as if my entire purpose shifted to discovering and sharing what animals had to teach us about how to live our lives for the better." Explains Australian Wildlife Wisdom co-author Trevor O'Sullivan in regards to his unique approach in crafting this book.

Creating such a book took years of research and study, allowing the authors to become fully vested in the messages that wildlife offers to those that pay attention to it. "We are very passionate about reaching as many people as possible with the educational messages being passed along from these amazing creatures. Our book details both the amazing habits of these Australian animals, as well as the unbelievable messages they offer humankind." Explains Australian Wildlife Wisdom co-author Susan O'Sullivan.

As the world continues to evolve, and people begin to pay more attention to global environmental issues, books like the Australian Wildlife Wisdom guide will become more and more valuable.

For more information on the book & cards, and to purchase a copy visit www.WildlifeWisdom.com

This publication seeks only to share the knowledge and experiences of the authors, their students and clients. It is stressed that its contents are in no way a substitute for personal supervision by qualified professionals. The authors of this website and newsletter do not accept any liability for loss, damage or other irrespective of cause which you may suffer or for which you become liable arising from or as a result of any actions you may take from the advice offered in this website and newsletter.

Don't Underestimate its Power!

by Birgit Montgomery

I still recall my first experience with Feng Shui, I was amazed at how quickly it worked. I met Roseline Deleu and put some of her Feng Shui advise into practise. I decided to experience it on my relationship as this need a lot of enhancement. Looking at the layout of my house I realised that the 'Love' area was in the laundry—wow, what a mess no wonder things weren't going good.... So I set to work cleaning it, the window, the cupboard the sink the whole room from top to bottom with the intent to have a happy relationship. This cleaning process took me a good hour and a half. When I finished it gleamed. Then I created a collage of happy couples in all sorts of situations (eating, kissing, walking,...) I displayed the collage and added a rose quartz crystal on the laundry shelf.

WITHIN ONE HOUR my daughter's ex boyfriend, who she had a huge fight with and he was spreading vicious rumours about her, knocked on the door to apologise and asked to be friends.

THE NEXT DAY, my previous boyfriend called me to rekindle our friendship too.

It really blew me away on how quickly and how extensively Feng Shui really shifts the energy and the situation.

So... don't underestimate its power!

Birgit Montgomery is now a qualified Feng Shui Practitioner on the Gold Coast and Tweed Coast. Her business is called De-Cluttz where Birgit helps her clients decluttering and applying Feng Shui into their homes and lives.

Book your DE-CLUTTZ experience with Birgit call 0409 551 590 TODAY

keen FENG SHUI Practitioners WANTED

Many students who successfully accomplish the 5 day Course with Roseline Deleu often choose to join her worldwide growing team.

Sign up for The 5 days Practitioner Course that offers you follow up and encouragements, helping you to go further in your work, career & practise !

As Roseline Deleu's team member, you will share, exchange and combine your skills with others and get stronger promoting your Feng Shui business in your area.

Beginners welcome !

Offer yourself a week off from work/family and enrol with the upcoming course @ the Gold Coast...

Gold Coast 25 Feb -> 29 Feb 08

Download your brochure on www.fengshuisteps.com Under the page "Courses and Events"

Fiji here we come!

by J.S-Y

Dear Roseline,

Must tell you of some exciting news that have happened since hanging the collage I created at your work-shop in my office...

Remember the "Kisses and public passion on their second honeymoon in Fiji" was something that came up, I stuck it on and though,

"Yeh, that would be nice...BUT I don't think so!"

My husband booked a romantic 5 day escape for the two of us...to Fiji...for our 11 year anniversary!

When he told me I ran into the office and pulled the collage out of the cupboard and hung it on the wall. If it has that much power folded up in the cupboard, just imagine what it could do on the wall!!!

Chris showed me your new style cartoon book! I love it!

J. S-Y Ashmore (QLD)

This publication seeks only to share the knowledge and experiences of the authors, their students and clients. It is stressed that its contents are in no way a substitute for personal supervision by qualified professionals. The authors of this website and newsletter do not accept any liability for loss, damage or other irrespective of cause which you may suffer or for which you become liable arising from or as a result of any actions you may take from the advice offered in this website and newsletter.

Sold the House in NO Time!

Carol Armstrong

Dear Roseline,

"We had been trying to sell our house for over two and half years and after having two contracts fail we were being extremely depressed and disillusioned about the whole process. I had met Carol just a few months before the last contract fell though and after this event decided to give her a call to seek advice from her with regard to the presentation of our home.

some small changes to the interior of our home we had a solid contact within a matter of days. She visited on a Monday and we sold on the Thursday it was absolutely fantastic she was able to produce this result for us in such a short space of time.

I would recommend her to anyone that might be feeling a bit frustrated about the direction life is taking them and are look for some positive changes.

all fronts. I am so grateful for her advice and would not hesitate to seek her help again in the future".

I would like to thank Carol
Chrissie – Gold Coast

Carol Armstrong
0438 822 295

Feng Shui Consultant
Gold Coast Australia

www.soustarvibrations.com
(under construction)

I cannot speak highly enough after a brief visit from her and making

The whole process proved to be so positive and extremely satisfying on

Feng Shui Clothing

In one of my previous newsletters, I mentioned to experience wearing different colours and see your reaction... I finally met Leonie and Pete who are putting out on the Australian market a range of great products that fit my approach of Feng Shui CLOTHING... Yes, I really mean clothes to inspire your day, making you the vibrant and happy Being that you truly are and deserve to radiate.

Just Being two powerful words for a new company who has the possibility to inspire you – if you want!

Just Being has wide range of T-shirts and bags in gorgeous colours with very powerful symbols and designs to wear and enjoy daily.

Just Being mission is to help people remembering who we really are and why we are here, by assisting through the healing energies of colours and symbols we have on and around us.

The colour you choose to wear today evokes emotions and stimulates the senses, encouraging you to enhance self empowerment and remember who you really are on a holistic level.

The healing vibrations that are created with the combination of words, symbols and colours printed on Just Being T shirts – all this in a simple, tasteful but very effective way. Not only do you experience the healing qualities of colour and symbolism but those around you also pick up on the energies you now emanate.

Silly as it may sound while wearing your t-shirt, you could send healing to a total stranger in the supermarket walking past you or standing behind you in a queue. He might be in need of feeling the vibrations of the colour you are wearing or the symbol printed, and subtly... you are sending healing energy to a total stranger. WE ARE ALL BEAUTIFUL ENERGY BEINGS capable of experiencing our higher consciousness and by having colour in and around our lives and just being who we really are we resonate to life and we become more conscious of our daily thoughts. We start experiencing beautiful healing emotions on ALL LEVELS.

Review by Roseline Deleu

We invite you to enjoy the experience of the range of Just Being products at selected stores on the Gold Coast and Sunshine Coast: What Women Want (Mudgeeraba, Chevron Island & Nerang), The Last Tango (Mt Tambourine), Images (Coolum), Faith Clothing (Ashmore), Chakra Shack (Southport), Soma (Nerang), wholesale enquiries welcome please call Leonie 0420709660
www.justbeing.com.au (under construction)

This publication seeks only to share the knowledge and experiences of the authors, their students and clients. It is stressed that its contents are in no way a substitute for personal supervision by qualified professionals. The authors of this website and newsletter do not accept any liability for loss, damage or other irrespective of cause which you may suffer or for which you become liable arising from or as a result of any actions you may take from the advice offered in this website and newsletter.

Feel Good with your Feng Shui Garden

by Olga Strachan

Olga Strachan

Feng Shui Practitioner (ACT)
"Shift your energy, shift your life" 0418 283 206

Work out what makes you feel good

What is a garden with soul? Can you define one? Or can you only feel it? Is it different for each one of us?

Like our homes, our gardens are spaces that we touch, that reflect how we see ourselves. We all know what it is like to walk into a house and immediately say, 'this feels right, I could be happy here'. It's the feeling we look for when buying a house. Similarly with gardens, it's the feeling that speaks to each of us. Luckily, what feels right to you may feel differently to me. And this is what makes it interesting as we are all different and want different things from our homes and gardens.

All of us have an area we influence. It may be small as in an apartment and balcony or it may be a mansion with a large garden. The area you most influence is your home and garden and these provide the strength and support for you to interface with the rest of the world.

So what does this mean? It means that, like your home, you are the best designer to create a soul garden because it needs to be what you want, what you need to feed and nourish your soul even if you hate gardening. Let's digress here for a moment. You don't have to be a passionate gardener to have a soul garden just like you don't need to love housework to have a nice house. But most of us feel better when our homes are clean and tidy and decorated with style. The same happens with gardens and this whole discussion is about feeling good.

Can you ignore your garden? Yes if you live in a flat with no plants. If you live in a house with a surrounding garden, ig-norning it will just reflect neglect and negativity back to you. Like a messy house, do you want this in your life?

Look at your garden with objective eyes. Is it overgrown, messy and cluttered? Is the garden just lawn edged with shrubs and trees, done because it was like that when you moved in or is the easiest solution? Does it look like someone loves it?

How do you feel when you go into your garden? Any of the words 'entranced, peaceful, balanced, excited, uplifted,' should come to mind. Is there a joy about your home and garden that sings "happy people live here"?

Creating this feeling is all about working out what you want. Like changing the furniture in your home, what you want in your garden is not set in concrete, it evolves and changes over time. This is good, our surroundings should reflect the way we grow, static arrangements are symptoms of a stuck mind.

In my home, I move the furniture every six months or when I feel the energy (chi) has become stagnant. This revitalises my home and my family. I do the same in my garden, it can be as simple as moving some pots or the birdbath or putting in a windchime. I do it because it makes me feel good.

Try to work out what your garden is saying to you at this moment. Go with a notebook and sit quietly somewhere in the garden for five minutes. Just sit and relax. Then look around you and describe to yourself the feelings you have as you look around your garden. Are they positive or negative? Try to work out the feeling you would like to have? Excitement, tranquillity, interest, grounding. Write it down.

Once you have worked out the feeling you want to create, consider the style you are attracted to. If you don't know, look at gardening books, magazines or visit open gardens and look for the feeling "Oh I like that". Then cut the picture out and put it in your notebook alongside the feelings you want to create. Do they match, if not re-think one or the other. For example, Japanese gardens are associated with tranquillity, meadow gardens with freedom, flower beds with control and maintenance.

Fitting your dream to the site – the hard yakka

Look at your site. Would it suit the style you like? Do you want to flow into the surrounding landscape or create something that is completely different. Do you have big trees to create a canopy to grow lots of shade loving plants or is the site completely exposed. I love the rainforest look but in Canberra frosts, most rainforest plants would shrivel and die.

Now, think about what you need to do in your garden. Space for the kids, the dog, vegetable patch and fruit trees, clothesline, somewhere to sit in the sun or shade, barbecue etc. List what you want and prioritise it. If you can, put some area measurements beside each priority.

Putting it all together

If you are unsure about what to do next, take what you have done and see a landscape architect or designer to pull it all together for you and put it on paper. Otherwise, the next step is not too hard and, like interior decorating, can be done with just a bit of work. Another option is to ask the Universe for help and to tell you which way to proceed. Then let it go ie don't worry and look for signs that happen to show you the direction.

Get a scale plan of your block, courtyard or balcony. Get Roseline's book, "First Easy Steps to Feng Shui", use the Bagua grid (see Roseline's book) and have fun with Feng shui. Firstly, determine whether your garden is smaller or larger than the house. Where the garden is the largest, lay the Bagua grid over the property plan aligning the bottom edge with the main entrance to the garden. Using Roseline's book, consider each of the sectors, their associated colours, shapes and elements in light of what you want to go where.

TURN TO PAGE 4
to read the end of this article

Feel Good with your Feng Shui Garden

by Olga Strachan

Where the garden is smaller than the house, place the grid over the house plan and extend the lines out to the fence boundaries. The house becomes the focal element on the site. Using the grid, check if you have any missing sectors on the house. This needs to be remedied before looking at the garden. Look at squaring off the house with screens, poles, pergolas to create a complete grid.

Square off the missing area of the grid

Then consider the garden. Extend the grid to the fence boundaries. You now have extended sectors 8, 3, 4, 9, 2, 7, 6, depending on your block. Using Roseline's book, consider each of the sectors, their associated colours, shapes and elements in light of what you want to go where.

Creating

This is where you produce the design. Throughout the process, it is important that you keep in mind the feelings you want to feel in your soul garden. Your creation will then become congruent and reflect what you want.

Another point to remember is that gardens are constantly evolving and changing, just like we should be doing as conscious human beings. Like you, your soul garden will change over time. As trees grow and create shade, new underplantings will be required. Some plants may not flourish and will need to be moved. You may relocate pots and ornaments. This is all part of the normal life cycle which should be honoured. Gardens are never static, they develop their own energies and, if you have created wisely, this energy will resonate with you.

You will love and look after your soul garden because you consciously created it to reflect part of you. Enjoy !
Olga Strachan

The FIRST and ONLY Cartoon Book on Feng Shui by Roseline Deleu & SoozieM

Was this a childhood dream or simply my way of teaching people the easy steps to understand Feng Shui?

I still don't know but I can tell you that the feed backs of those who already purchased the book are AMAZINGLY GREAT!

SoozieM is a fantastic artist and was able—after following the Feng Shui training—to put my teachings into cartoons!

The pictures replace a thousand words; with them you are able to see and perceive what words mean. Illustrations bring ideas, awareness and joy while reading.

Who reads this cartoon book?

Everyone!!

Children will look at it and pick up some hints for their bedrooms while they can even colour the black and white illustrations bringing this book to life!

Adults of all age groups connect with their inner child and start implementing simple but effective tips to improve their lives.

How can you get your copy?

Simply order with PAYPAL through www.fengshuisteps.com under the page Books & Products and allow a few days to mail your copy! I will be away around Xmas, so order before the 16th Dec to get it before the New Year.

ONLY AU$20 + P&H

A4 format 64 pages, paperback cover.

